

Explore Your Topic

Books

search the library catalog to find relevant books, use a books index and table of contents to track down information

Databases

contain newspaper and journal articles from a wide variety sources, links available on the library home page

Scholarly Journals

articles that are peer reviewed and considered high quality sources

Google

Websites

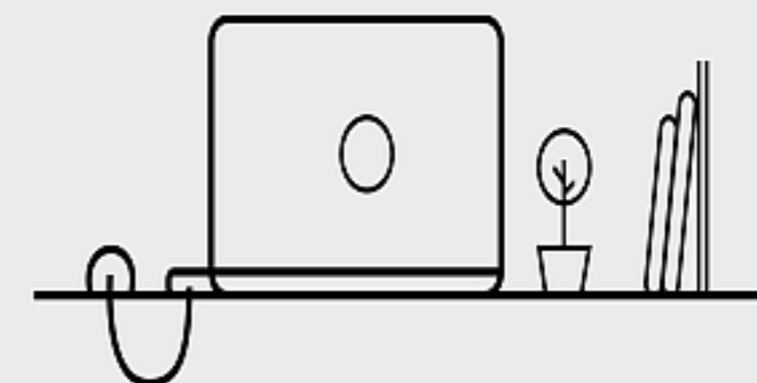

essential to evaluate information found online for accuracy and relevance

People

find someone with knowledge or personal experience with your topic

Newspapers

use the print copies and search for articles in databases for more breadth

Reference Books

look up the basics and get general background information

Popular Magazines

available in hard copy and articles are available in library databases as well

Time to Write!

organize your research and start that paper!

